DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ess (4,392,401) in view of Schulze et al. (5,701,791).

Ess discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a horizontal table 12, at least one movable device 15, a feed direction (see Fig. 4), a direction opposite to the feed direction (see Fig. 6) a sawing device 10 and a plurality of pickup elements 17. Ess doesn't show the pickup elements are both movable by first drive means relative to the movable device and second drive means. However, Schulze et al. teaches the use of first drive means (14 and 16) which allow movement of the pickup elements bi-directional 15 relative to movable device 10 and second drive means 27 (see col. 6, lines 64-67) for the purpose of allowing accelerated processing of the workpiece. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the movable device 15 of Ess by providing the first drive means and second drive means as taught by Schulze et al. in order to obtain a device that allows accelerated processing of the workpiece. Regarding claim 6, the pickup elements 43 of Schulze et al. are movable up and down in a vertical direction by clamping piston 40.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 19 and 20 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
